The Pastor's Ponderings

Will the winter ever end? At least that's how it seems, doesn't it? We seem to be stuck in a weather pattern that brings us snow and sub-zero temperatures alternating with moderate temperatures accompanied by rain. All but the most diehard snow lovers are thinking longingly of the lazy, hazy days of seeking shade and a cold drink in July. We think about our church family and friends who have moved south and are enjoying the warm days in Florida, and we think about moving south ourselves. We dream of perhaps just taking a week or two to fly off to some warm locale. Take heart, the snow and ice will eventually melt, and we will once again bask in spring sunshine and dust off those sandals that now sit in a heap in the closet next to the boots that have temporarily replaced them.

Fortunately, we are all warm and dry; unlike so many in our area who have no place to call home this winter. As the weather rages and the temperatures drop, teams of dedicated workers go out into the streets cities like Hartford and New Haven, trying to locate those who live in tents, under bridges, and on park benches. Resources for the homeless and hungry are stretched thin in shelters and soup kitchens now that the popular donation times of Thanksgiving and Christmas are over and budget cuts have taken their toll on services to the least of these.

Our church family has always been keenly aware of those in need of help in our community. We collect food monthly for Southington Community Services and half of our Christmas offering when to their fuel fund. We regularly participate as volunteers at Bread for Life, as well as participating in their food drives in the fall and spring. These non-profit organizations, among others supported through our Outreach budget, are a lifeline for both individuals and families in our area who otherwise would go without food, shelter and heat.

When you do your weekly grocery shopping, try to remember to pick up some extra cans of soup, breakfast cereal, rice, canned beans, spaghetti sauce, pasta, macaroni and cheese, or tuna; almost any non-perishable item can be used prepare meals at Bread for Life or distributed by Southington Community Services to families who might otherwise go hungry. It doesn't take much time or money, but if we each give a little, we can make a difference.

Faithfully,

Pastor Sharon

This is for everyone who may have missed Lauren's Children's Story in January about rewriting Ephesians 6: 14-17. Here is her new rendition after seeing all the teens who refuse to wear layers of coats, scarves, mittens and hats during the winter season - this is the new 'armor of God':

So stand firm. Wrap the scarf of truth around your neck.
Button up the down jacket of righteousness.
Protect your feet with the boots of the good news of peace.
Also, wear the mittens of faith; with them you can throw snowballs at the evil one.
Put on the knit cap of salvation.
And snuggle into the long johns of the Holy Spirit.

She ended with: 'this sounds silly, but think of this - God has given us His truth, righteousness and Gospel. He has blessed us with salvation, faith and the Holy Spirit. They won't help us, won't protect us, if we leave them in the closet, if we choose not to wear them every day.'

Editorial Note: Hummmm,,,,,these Children's Stories certainly ring true for the adults as well!!

- Check out our bulletin board in the Narthex. We have posted many letters of thanks from the individuals and organizations we have supported with your mission contributions this year.

- In January, we collected contributions for the Retired Ministers and Missionaries Fund. We received the following letter from our own retired minister, Rev. Gordon Swan, as a thank you for your support over the past years.

Oh dear FBC Southington, how very marvelous you are to me, by granting me during these 43 years, the honor and privilege of sharing with you your very significant life, ministry, and mission. You have kept in touch in so many kind, practical, and prayerful ways. You have put up and hung in there with me, and thank God, in my foibles you have for-given me. What a great joy to be together in the Body of Christ! Now through the MMBB ANNUAL OFFERING you thank me and many. Let me tell you, yes you already know, but it is so good to raise it up and celebrate the great pleasure there is in being thanked any time, especially for me in retirement. Everyone wants to be appreciated and not forgotten: Pastors too! So from the bottom of my heart, for your generous participation in this special offering which makes me and many feel so good, on behalf of all the ABCUSA retirees: THANK YOU! You and the offering mean, in so many ways, the world to me! I LOVE YOU! THANK YOU!
Gordon Swan

Hospital auxiliary hosts wreath fundraiser

In December, First Baptist Church's Fellowship Hall was filled with creative crafters making wreaths during a fundraiser benefiting the Hospital of Central Connecticut, Bradley Memorial Auxiliary. Almost 80 women enjoyed an afternoon of fun and fellowship, and took home wreath centerpieces.

Our annual service honoring Rev. Dr. Martin

Luther King Jr., was held this year on Sunday morning, January 14th. With the theme “Continue to Serve,” it was an inspiring and well-attended event. Guest speakers were Missy Cipriano and Janet Mellon. Missy, true to her Baptist background, spoke eloquently of the inspirational words of

Rev. Dr. King and described the services and volunteer opportunities offered by Bread for Life. Janet Mellon followed and shared some of the work of Southington Community Services, as well as her observations from a fair housing perspective, that racism persists in our communities. Wonderfully moving special music was provided by Rev. Christopher Adams, ‘Singing Chaplain,’ who currently serves at Covenant House for Children. In addition, the two middle school students, Tia Guay and Reilly Jaruis, and their families were present to be honored again by Pastor Sharon Holt and Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Timothy Connellan. These two students had been presented the MLK awards earlier in the week at their school assemblies, and it was an honor to have them in attendance at this service as well. Following worship, we gathered in the Fellowship Hall for a light luncheon and reception and enjoyed conversing with our many guests. We were pleased by the attendance and the response to this new Sunday morning format.
